

Presentation at Medica for CIC

At the July AACC meeting the CPOCT-ILC committee discussed the following:

- CLSI has a new revision to the POCT-1A standard being voted on, POCT-1A2
- The CLSI committee is developing a guide to implementation of the standard
- A project to develop a “Gold Standard” test tool supported by the ILC committee was discussed.
- It was felt that the development of the tool is better done by a private company however the ILC should develop a requirements document and use cases.
- All members of the ILC would like the test tool as a package they can use day to day in development and test of their interfaces. Some would also use it to qualify their interface before having a formal certification done.
- Some members of the ILC would use an external certification test group, others would do testing internally.
- There is still a need to get more involvement from the LIS vendors.
